BRITISH ATTITUDE SURPRISES FRANCE

Paris, December 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—There is a disinclination in French official circles to discuss the British attitude toward the settlement of internalied debts and the disposition shown in London to take an active interest in the present to take an active interest in the pros pective funding negotiations between France and the United States. There is no concealment, however, of the surprise caused by intimations that the United States cannot allow France more favorable terms than those granted Great Britain.

It is recalled that France was neither consulted nor informed when Premier Baldwin went to Washington to negotiate the funding of the British debt and the French govern-ment learned of the terms on which the debt was settled through the press, although there were certain political considerations involved in British policy at that time that setiously interested France. Therefore, the French cannot now understand why the British government should interest itself in the Franco-American Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Kentucky and has occupied some of the leading pulpits in Ala-bama and Tennessee and comes to the Buckhead Baptist church and the city of Atlanta with great expectations.

The church recently has added greatly to its membership. The Sunday school has grown by leaps and bounds within the past year.

It is the plan of the church to build a new and up-to-date plant in the near future somewhere on Peachtree road, as it has already outgrown the present building. It has been forced to rent a store for some departments of the Sunday school.

J. W. Elliott, superintendent of the Sunday, school, has a vision of a great school, taking in the entire north side. F. O. Cooper, chairman of the board of deacons, is equally as optistic over the future of the church.

been remedied so that we could undertake the work above mentioned. We would like to be in position to do that.

The existing conditions have not been remedied and are growing steadily worse so that the street railway today is earning only a small margin over its operating expenses. Consequently the street railway is totally without funds with which to pay the cost of the work above mentioned which you ask us to do in your letter of December 4.

For the year 1924 the city of Atlanta, direct and indirect taxes on the street railway, including ad valorem taxes, gross receipts, taxes, bridge rentals, etc., will amount to approximately $168,000, and in addition the street railway must pay state, county, municipal (other than Atlanta), and federal taxes to the extent of approximately $200,000. It is being taxed to death.

In 1924 the street railway paving assessments and the cost of reconstructing tracks necessitated by paving amounted to $490,000. The street railway is being paved to death.

The street railway has lost approximately $490,000. The street railway is been to death.

The street railway has lost approximately $750,000 in revenue in 1924 as a result of unregulated, untaxed, irresponsible, cut-threat fitney competition, licensed by the city paralelling the most profitable shorthaul lines of the street railway, thus depriving it of its only profitable business. The street railway is being jitneyed to death.

The result of all this is that the street railway has no money to repair its track and the granite block paving which it has laid on its right of way on Ponce de Leon avenue.

laíd on its right of way on Ponce de Leon avenne.

The remedies for the conditions mentioned above are wholly in the control of the city of Atlanta. The only revenue the street railway has is from the fares paid by passengers for transportation. The city by excessive taxes and paving assessments, and by licensing unregulated cut-throat jitney competition with the street railway has deprived the street railway of its ability to earn a sufficient amount to sustain itself, and this is progressing to the point where shortly it will not be able for lack of funds to function at all. Under this condition which is directly controlled by the city, how can the city expect or require the street railway to expect or require the street railway to continue to pay these direct and indirect paving costs? Very truly yours,

Duke, Who Gave Huge Fund CANDLER AND JACOBS | Get Out the Dictionary For Carolinas' Development, Refuses To Take Life Easy

On Contrary, Ditrichstein, Actor, Who Has Retired Wealthy, To Spend Rest of Life in Play.

BY RODNEY F. DUTCHER.

New York, December 12.—After you reach middle age and have accumulated a good-sized fortune, you can believe either James B. Duke or Leo Ditrichstein as to what to do next.

Duke, the tobacco king, gave away $40,000,000 the other day for the edducational development of the Carolinas. Duke believes that satisfied ambition is an "awful thing." Tremendously wealthy, he refuses to take life easy and halls his big educational project as something that "will keep me busy the rest of my life."

Ditrichstein, 40 years on the American stage, hasn't got $40,000,000, but be use a giled un enough to keep the New York, December 12.—After you ach middle age and have accumulat-

Ditrichstein, 40 years on the American stage, hasn't got $40,000,000, but he has piled up enough to keep the crowds out of his cornfield, and he incrowds out of his cornfield, and he intends to spend the rest of his life at play. He's so firm in this intention and so thoroughly convinced that the United States is no place for a gentleman of leisure that he's going to leave the country flat and go to Italy to enjoy himself for his remaining days.

> TO AWAIT ARRIVAL OF CHAMBERLAIN.

London, December 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American reply to the British note of December 4, which itself answered the American note regarding reparations for war damage claims, was received by the British government this morning. It will not be touched, however, until the arrival of Foreign Secretary Chamberlin from Rome, Mr. Cham-clared Friday that, while they had been able to prevent the establish-ment of the threatened railroad yard ball games between the teams of Tech and Georgia has been arranged for the next three years.

Games To Be Outstanding.

"These games will undoubtedly be the outstarding athletic features of the years in which they are played, and the attendance will be measured only by the seating capacity of Grant field.

"As an evidence of our good will and of The Constitutions desire to do everything within its power to promote these star events, permit me to offer in behalf of The Constitution a trophy to the value of $500 to go to the athletic association of the institution winning two out of the three of the scheduled games.

"The trophy is to be held from year to year by the association winning the permanent possession of the winning association.

"If, after the series of games as scheduled has been completed, there should be a draw resulting from one or more tie games in the series, then the award is to go to the organization which has scored the largest number of points during the series.

Good Will Is Urged.

"It is needless for me to assure"

a cre for help from our neighbors, but rather of points during the series.

Good Will Is Urged.

"It is needless for me to assure you that we will do everything within our power to make these occasions red letter days in Atlanta. Every possible effort should be made to have the boys meet on terms of friendship and good will. Representatives of both institutions should do their utmost to make each game a contest between friends and brothers, clean-cut and hard-fought, but always on the high plane of gentlemanly sportsmanship.

"If this spirit characterizes these games it will be of incalculable benefit to both institutions. Very truly yours.

A Brilliant Season.

The Tech High aggregation has played brilliant ball in every game this season and if it can hold its form just one more day, the season will be one of the most successful in the career of any football team.

The men who are to come down to supplement the Tech High team in the morning with Line Coach Alexander are: Manager Newman, Davis, Obear, Goldsmith, McConnell, Rasneck, Griffin, Mayhew, Clinkscales, Manning and Parshall.

TOUR OF WORLD APPLICATIONS Charleston, S. C., December 12 .-

There was a shortage of good tacticians, among the quarterbacks of the west this season, rather than any lack of strong mechanical performers. Parkin of lowa is a shade the better of Rockwell of Michigan, and both can do their work in handy fashion. Parkin, I believe, had more of the qualities of a leader, and all this combined to give him the call over the Michigan man.

Cunningham Strong.

Cunningham of Ohio state didn't receive the amount of publicity that his splendid playing throughout the season merited for him. He was very strong in all departments of his game, and makes a fine running mate for Otto of lowa, who is, perhaps, the outstanding end of the conference this year.

Brown of Michigan had a shade the better of it, in my calculations, over Claypool of Purdue, their cases being similar to those of Parkin and Rockwell. The two were easily the best

Smithies Await Championship Kickoff Today Star Named Unanimously With Godwin as Alternate;

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

Douglas Wycoff, sensation of the south's 1924 grid campaign, will lead the Golden Tornado of 1925 as its captain and Walter Godwin, who played brilliantly for Tech this fall at guard, will be Wycoff's alternate, it was voted last night at the Georgia Tech athetic association banquet at the Biltmore hotel. The vote was taken just before the banquet by the 23 letter men of 1924.

Wycoff was elected captain of the 1925 football team unanimously, this marking the first time that a captain has been elected without some opposition. It was a mark of distinction that goes to Wycoff not only because of his remarkable football ability, but also on account of his popularity among members of the team on which he plays.

Wycoff's election to captain the 1925 Golden Tornado came during a gathering where good will and fine sportsmanship in next year's game between Tech and Georgia was predominant. Dr. W. H. Brittain, president of Tech, who occupied the toast master's chair during the after-dinner talks, began the talk of the Tech-Georgia game November 14 next and the note of good fellowship between the teams of the two schools was struck by practically every other speaker.

the note of good fellowship between the teams of the two schools was struck by practically every other speaker.

Cup Offer Causes Stir. •

Outstanding at the meeting was the offer by Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution of a costly trophy to be awarded the winner of the football games to be played between Tech and Georgia during the next three years. The offer caused a stir at the banquet and was the subject of many of the remarks made following the address in which Mr. Howell made it.

In his talk announcing decision to award the cup, Mr. Howell called for alumni of the two institutions to get behind the development of the good will that he said is sure to be exemplified in the athletic competition between the two institutions now that athletic relations have been resumed.

The banquet brought about one of the most brilliant gatherings in the history of Georgia Tech Athletic association dinners to the Golden Tornadoes of Tech. There was just one feature to mar the proceedings but it is found each year at the banquets. It was the final appearance of seven letter men of Tech before going into the last lap of their studies before graduation.

Union Electric Light and Power Company, Through Its Profitable Business in the St. Louis Territory, Has Built Up Unusually Large Earning Margins.

The Union Electric Light and Power Company is one that bond investors have heard very little about in recent years, but which occupies a position of unusual strength. Ordinarily power and light companies come into the market rather frequently for funds with which to finance new enterprises, and investors become, in the course of time, familiar with the leading properties.

Here is an important utility that is growing as rapidly as the others but which, except for a note issue that was called two years after issuance, has not sold bonds to the public since about 1917. Union Electric Light and Power Company during recent years has been able to finance its great growth and expansion primarily through earnings and the sale

That Union Electric Light and Power has been following such a course is the best explanation, perhaps, of the fact that it was able a few days ago to market its general mortgage 5 per cent bonds of 1954 at 99, or on a 5.07 per cent yield basis.

Large amounts turned back into the property have helped to raise property values greatly. The company's property pledged to secure bonds, based on figures used for rate-making purposes by the public vances on the day.

In connection with its flotation of $5,000,000 bonds at the present time the company is creating a new instrument to be known as the gen these underlying obligations, on issuance of the new mortgage, will be closed at amounts now outstanding. Subject to the underlying issues, the new mortgage will constitute a general lien.

But the mortgage has an attraction not apparent on first analysis. The underlying bonds all mature within the next nine years, so that by 1933 the new general mortgage will be a first lien on the company's entire property. The technical provisions of the mortgage are modern in every sense, provisions being made for issuance of additional bonds to an amount that is limited by earnings rather than some arbitrary figure. Bonds may be offered in different series and with different maturities.

TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA, Trustee

Red Hair and Blue Sea By Stanley R. Osborn.

Osborn.

Palmyra Tree, on board the yacht Rainbow, which is leaving the California coast for the south seas, is startled to see a sinewy brown hand with a black lace mitt on it thrust through her porthole window. Palmyra is loved by two men, John Thurston and Van Buren Rutger. She is not certain which man she loves.

Palmyra determines to unearth the owner of that sinister hand, but tells no one her purpose. She discovers Ponape Burke, who confesses that he is a smuggler of coolies and colum. Burke permits her a glimpse of a savige brown man, Olive, hiding with him. Palmyra gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren Rutger. Burke and Olive leave the yacht at Honolulu, and Palmyra's engagement to Van Buren is announced. The yacht Rainbow is wrecked. The party lands on an uninhated island, faced with starvation. Ponape Burke appears on the Pigeon of Noah and promises to rescue them. Palmyra goes on board alone to investigate, and finds herself a prisoner. Burke sails away with Palmyra, telling her it was he who wrecked the yacht Rainbow. Thurston prepares to pursue Burke.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

PURSUIT.

Two of the boats were already loading. Thurston's mind reacted a step from chaos, "Unload those boats," he velled. "Unload 'em, I say!"

"Go on your raft and drown to recall the launch party, which had now picked up Johannsen.

The castaways had been huddling, sheeplike. Thurston, possessed of his ferocious desire to do something, appeared to have forgot the other men. He ran to one of the half loaded boats. He threw the stores out. He seized the boat, dragged it, carried it up on the sand. Then he seemed, for the first time, to realize how utterly inadequate it was to the demand he would have made upon it.

He turned from the thing in a furious disgust. But one glance at the other boats showed them equally unavailable.

There was a pile of spars, sails, salvaged material from the wreck. Everything was being rushed ashore which could be of use for shelters or other construction. He turned on this wreckage, began to throw it right and left. So far he responded to his savage urge for action rather than any calculated purpose. But with muscular use came relief. The disorder of his mind was subsiding before the habit of performance under emergency.

A sailor detached himself from the sheeplike group and came toward him. A second followed. "What next, Mr. Thurston" "Here." Thurston indicated the wreckage. "Begin to sort that out.

I'll be back in a minute." He ran across to Captain Pedersen. "Captain," he demanded, "what can we do? At once?" The deposed sailing master looked back at him haggardly. "Nothing." "But, but we must. I tell you we must. Man, we've got to get to sea. Today-now!"

Pedersen groaned. "I wish to God we could, Mr. Thurston. I'm as broke up as you. But there yust ain't no use. Looks now, if we're ever to get off, we'll have to knock together some sort of craft from the Thurston cried out in protest. "Weeks, months. No! You, with all your sea experience, you must know some way. I—I demand—"But Pedersen shook his head. Nothing whatever could be done.

Suddenly Thurston's face lighted. He stood in thought, his features taking on a more definite tinge of elation. "I've got it!" he cried, and whirled away. The sailing canoes in which the Polynesian navigators of a bygone day covered the Pacific were catamarans. The explorers built two hulls, so narrow that neither, by itself, would float. But when the two were fixed, perhaps ten feet apart, by timbers lashed athwart their gunwales amidships, the double canoe became stanch enough—though boasting in all its parts no nail or bolt or rivet, its joints held by nothing stronger than breadfruit gum and twists of cord, its sails no more substantial than plaited leaf-to traffic all away and across the broad Pacific. It was Thurston's idea now that, placing his four separately worth-less boat in tandem, two on each side, he could lash them under a framework of the lighter spars into a machine which would carry a considerable spread of sail. 'If those old catamarans could hold together for a thousand miles,' he explained, "ours ought to make the next island."

Work had been going on perhaps an hour when Thurston appeared for the first time to become aware of Van Buren Rutger's drooping John had completely forgot the other man. Convicted, he ran

"Van," he cried, "I haven't for a moment ignored your right to leadership in this. The dear girl herself gave you that right. But it, it all happened so suddenly. I was only—" He found his explanation all happened so suddenly. I was only——" He found his explanation difficult; turned, rather, to sketch the plan of action. "What do you think, Van?" he concluded. "Isn't that the best we can hope to do?"

Van was silent for a long time; then, unexpectedly, laughed. "As, as good as any," he aid, "Go on your raft, and drown. Stay, and starve. What's the difference? As regards her"—he caught his breath in a broken exhalation—"she's gone."

Thurston gazed at him somberly. "You, you mean you won't raise

"I won't," Van answered wearily, "and neither will you. We can't."
Thurston's face was resolute. "Perhaps you're right," he acknowled. "Very likely so. But for me, I prefer to die—trying." He would have hurried away, but the other detained him. "I'm not your kind of an ass," Van said. "You fool, you know there's no hope. Yet, by this silly work, you can kid yourself into sort of relief. Me!" "You, you still But he tore himself from this vision, became defiant. think I'm yellow. Very well, then, I'll show you. I'll help now; and when you sail, I, too, shall go."

As they worked, furiously, Pedersen watched them. The man was both contrite, jealous. Presently he ventured a protest. "You'll drown Thurston laughed scornfully, Pedersen strode away, but returned. "The girl is gone, lost be yond saving. Thurston lashed into a timber with an ax. "Hurry," he said to hi

"Hurry!" Once more the deposed sailing master came back. "It's seven women here against one gone. They need your brain, the strength of those men. And this material! We yust got to have it for the schooner that's to save all. Seven women, I say, against one-and her sure be-

Thurston swore. He shouldered a boom into place. "D'you think," he cried, brutally frank, "that I'd balance the certain life of all of you against one chance of saving her?" Pedersen turned to Mrs. Crawford, the other guests. There was degree of good sense in his argument. But Thurston was adamant. "I tell you this has yust got to stop," roared the deposed sailing

"I'm by rights captain here. I order you men to stop." Thurston ordered them on—and they worked.
"Not a man shall sail with you," bellowed Pedersen.
Johannsen stepped forward. "I'll go wit' you, sir. And I know

Others volunteered. Thurston had only to choose. Sunset came; the night. But he urged them on. ow's spars rose above the timbered platform, a respectable mast. As a final touch canvas was bent over each of the boats to keep it from filling under a breaking sea. As the first color of the dawn touched the eastern sky the last of the stores and gear was lashed into place.

Thurston stooped over Van, who had fallen in the sleep of exhaustion, and waked him. "Say the word," he announced. "We're Van roused but slowly; then turned upon the stronger man in futile rage at circumstance. "Damn you," he cried, "I'd rather stay here and die like a gentleman—clean and dry. I hate a nasty wet corpse. Top you, you optimistic ass, because I know-hought. "Come on. Let's get it over." Twenty minutes later they were at sea.

GENERAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. Only bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama. Florida, North and South Carolina, and Tennessee may take part in this contest. Employees of The Atlanta Constitution and immediate members of their families, and persons who won prizes in the elephant puzzle contest conducted by The Constitution, are barred from entering this puzzle contest.

2. No solution will be accepted unless accompanied by a subscription

3. A contestant may submit as many solutions as desired, provided payment for not less than three months' subscription is made with each solution. A solution once received and recorded cannot be changed or

4. Only one prize will be paid to any person, household, or group of persons working together. When in the judgment of the contest manager two or more solutions have been copied or worked in collusion, such solution may be rejected by him and the subscription money refunded.

5. The Constitution is to decide any question which may arise that is not covered by the published rules, and those entering this contest agree to abide by its decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.

6. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to The Constitution office on or before 9:00 P. M., Wednesday, January 21, 1925. In this contest mail bearing postmark of that date will be accepted. This contest extends from Sunday, December 7th, 1924, to and including Wednes-

7. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions; and another puzzle will be submitted to those tied. That is, if two or more people should tie on the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be rewarded in the order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle.

8. In the event of ties for any prize, or prizes, a second puzzle of the same type as this cross-figure puzzle will be presented to those tied to solve. However, instead of single figures the numbers will consist of double figures such as 15, 24, 36, etc., and the problem will be to construct a chain of circles across the chart so as to obtain the greatest difference between the sum total of the even and the sum total of the odd figures within the circles. If necessary to dispose of further ties,

9. The contest is open to both old and new subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $2.50 for three months, $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months to the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions will not be accepted in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent, no commission can be deducted.

10. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitu-10. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, and paying a carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring direct to The Constitution a three, six, or twelve months' payment with the solution. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer, or agent must be paid to him, as the remittance sent us should date from the day it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payment. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from present paid date of expiration. The contestant can have solution credited in his or of expiration. The contestant can have solution credited in his or her name, and paper sent to some other party. Two six months' sub-scriptions at $5.00 each are equal to one yearly subscription. One six-months' subscription at $5.00 and two three-months' subscriptions at $2.50 each, total remittance $10.00, are equal to one yearly or two six-months' subscriptions. Full qualification remittance should be sent with the solution, as additional payment cannot be made after the close of this contest, Jan. 21.

CLOSING DATE The Cross-Figure Puzzle Contest will close at 9:00 P. M.,

Wednesday, January 21, 1925. The earlier you send in your solution the longer time you will have to go wer your figures and send in another solution if you find you can do better.

Additional charts may be secured at any time by calling at the address below or sending a self-addressed stamped envelope for mailing them. NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS BEEN ONCE REGISTERED.

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER

While the amount you pay with the solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winner pays. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

Remember that the subscription and solution blank must not be separated from the cross-figure chart. The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning : prize. Accuracy is what counts. No more than one prize will be awarded to any one person.

If you desire extra puzzles free by mail, be sure to inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

STONEHAM INCLUDED

New York, December 12.-Federal Judge Augustus N. Hand, today granted a motion to include Charles A. Stoneham, part owner of the New York Giants as a "dormant partner" in the bankrupt stock brokerage firm of E. M. Fuller and company, convicted bucketeers.

The brokerage house failed in 1922 for several million dollars. Two members of the firm. Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee, await sentences for bucketing.

He once conducted the firm of C.

A. Stoneham and company, which voluntarily ceased business shortly bevoluntarily ceased business. When re the succession of failures. When D. Die. and company failed, the baseball magnate was implicated as a silent partner who had invested upward of $147,000 to acquire an under-cover interest in the business.

In August, 1923, he was indicted for perjury after his testimony at a referee's hearing concerning $172,000 in checks he had given E. M. Fuller and company. At that time Stoneham raid he loaned the money as a favor baseball magnate was implicated as a pending. Stoneham being at liberty under bail.

Last week the appellate division of the supreme court denied requests of Stoneham and his former partner, Ross P. Robertson, that charges of stock conversion, fraud and conspiracy be struck from three suits filed against them by former customers.

In the action which culminated to day in Judge Hand's order, Thomas L. Chadbourne appeared as counsel for 4,000 E. M. Fuller and company creditors who lost over $5.000,000 in the collapse of that firm. Issuance of the collapse the collapse of that firm. Issuance of the order was opposed by Max D. Steuer, counsel for Stoneham.

COURT REFUSES MOVE TO EXPUNGE INSANITY HEARING

Judge Bostwick today refused to expunge from the court records insani-ty proceedings brought against Charles "Chic" Harley, former star football player as asked for in a motion filed by counsel for Harley, who now lives in Chicago.

Harley was sent to the Dayton state hospital December 2, 1922, and discharged the next year. The mo-tion asserted he was a citizen of Chi-cago at the time, and that the Frank-lia county court had no jurisdiction in his case. He further charged aud in his commitment.

Judge Bostwick said while fraud as charged no definite statement; was made as to particular acts.

CORDELE MEN SPEAK TO SAVANNAH CLUB | BUSINESS SERVICE-

Savannah, Ga., December 12 .- (Spe cial.)—Charles E. Brown, editor of Cordele Dispatch, and A. S. Bussey representative from Crisp county in the legislature, were speakers at luncheon yesterday of the Young Men's Dynamo club of Savannah. Speaking as the first of a series of teams to be invited to Savannah to tell Savannah "What Georgia expects of the port city." Mr. Brown declared the people of Georgia will back Savannah's big port improvement if the matter is presented to them plainly and honestly and each side of Georgia will. and honestly and said if Georgians will quit wasting time proving to them-selves they are the greatest people on earth and with proper confidence get down to business, things will happen.

Mr. Bussey spoke of the leadership of Savannah in many things in the past and said Georgia is looking for greater initiative and leadership from her in many lines in the future.

vestigation of the state auditor's report criticising the present salary of Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture, will be made Tuesday, when the board of trustees of the institution meets here, it was announced today.

The hearing was requested by Dr.

it was announced today.

The hearing was requested by Dr. Soule after the auditor's report called the governor's attention to the fact that the president receives a salary of $5.000 a year from the state and $3,000 from the federal government for work in connection with the rehability of the property of the salary department. ilitation department. The auditor contends Dr. Soule is entitled to a full salary of only $5,000 a year.

PEACH GROWERS SEE AIR PLANE DUSTING

Montezuma, Ga., December 12.—
(Special.)—A demonstration of dusting cotton and peach trees by the use of airplane was given at Montezuma Thursday. This demonstration was held on the plantations of Jule Felton and Chastain Brothers. To the peach growers it seemed a feasible proposition. The peach growers of Macon county have always been heavy users of dust for summer control of insects and plant diseases, and if the airplane dusting proves practicable it will further relieve the labor shortage which has been felt in this section since the general exodus of negroes.

B. D. Post was in charge of the demonstration, cooperating with county agent, Guy W. Firor.

Mr. Black Apologizes

Atlanta, Dec. 12, 1924.

To the Public:

We regret to learn that a statement made in our advertisement published in Wednesday's Journal has caused considerable embarrassment to a number of Atlanta husbands.

When we thoughtlessly advertised the fact that seven wives in Atlanta would receive Buick cars for Christmas, we did not realize we were stirring up trouble in so many families in Atlanta. The numerous telephone calls we have received from hopeful wives convince us that we acted unwisely and without due consideration for our fellow married men.

We sincerely hope we have not precipitated too many domestic crises, and promise not to be so thoughtless in the future.

Very truly yours,

D. C. BLACK.
